I am a young entrepreneur who is committed to giving back to the communities that have been the main reason that my life was given to me. I love what I do, and I love being able to help a team of people that are an extension of my own family.Q: How to output the values in an array on a regular basis to another screen? In my app the user has to type in a number and then click enter, and it should count up to the value they specified. I also have to change the color of the numbers and the background color to see it when counting. My problem is that I cant seem to get it to work. I've tried it with different methods and it either only counts up to 1 number or not at all. I know it is just a beginner question but I can't seem to find a way to get it to work.

-(IBAction)count2 { NSString *input =[self.textField text]; if ([input isEqualToString:@" "]){ int number=[input intValue]; } if (number>0) { int counter =number; int x =counter-1; int nextColor = [UIColor colorWithRed:x/8.0 green:x/4.0 blue:x/3. 77a5ca646e
