There is no way in the app to set a username or password. I've been working on 2 different phones for 2 weeks, and I've been reading on how to do it and the help doc is bare bones, so I'm at a dead end. There is no way to remove the username/password. I feel the ability to remove the username/password should be an #1 feature for any app. If it can't be removed, I'll have to save the username/password in my phone, and give up the app forever. I'd like to leave this app, but I feel Apple's choices for the app store are restricting innovation. Their idea is to force phone manufacturers to pay an annual fee for the app store, and I feel this will limit the potential for hardware designers to do anything of worth. I feel it's a great app, but Apple is restricting innovation with their app store and a stupid recurring $100/yr fee. They make hardware, not apps, and they should have no idea what to do with them. I'm sorry it's not working as described. I've set up my account as described, and I never received a confirmation of it. I'm not the only person with this problem as they track the support forums, but have not responded to any of the answers. They eventually say they'll respond, but no one ever responds.Media playback is unsupported on your device Media caption New analysis of IS videos and a new route map suggests the group has taken the offensive in some of its heartlands of Iraq and Syria. The Islamic State (IS) has built a sophisticated propaganda machine as it fights to control its self-proclaimed caliphate 82138339de
