Jonathan Duncan, of Dunbar, who owns the Caledonian and Pontllanfraith hotels, was questioned by Levensgrove MSP Dave Thompson about the actions of the Labour Party Central Executive Committee. Mr Duncan was chair of the Argyll and Bute District Labour Party, the construction advisor to former MP Ian Johnstone and a delegate for the Scottish Labour party with the UK Labour Party. Mr Duncan said he was not attending yesterday's hearing. But his name was read out by party aide Fraser Millar, who said: "He was on the nine-person central executive committee." He added that Mr Duncan attended other party meetings as a delegate for the UK party. Mr Thompson said: "In addition to being on the central executive committee you were mentioned in the minutes as being on the network, which I understand to be a party management body. "I would be interested to know if you were still on that." Mr Millar said he was not, adding: "I was solely a student of the policy." Mr Thompson told the hearing there was nothing secret about the nature of Labour's operation in Angus at this time, but it had not been obvious to the SNP. The judge also heard that Ian Johnstone, Labour's election campaign manager for Argyll and Bute in May 2016, was being paid £50,000 to help deliver a successful General Election campaign.
