Feedback is appreciated, but not required. I hope you enjoy this game! The Enemy Spoiler: The enemy is not the final boss. It takes your character 3-5 turns to defeat them. The enemy army is generated by your characters level and experience points. They will keep coming and come to the same area until you defeat them and they cannot be revived. You don't have to watch it, but it's something you might want to waste a few minutes of your time. Storyline: Slightly original, I think. The premise of the story is that the world has a curse. The world is cursed with death. Zombies are the embodiment of death, and they want to devour anyone alive. There is no game-play, just a static intro and outro. The world is devoid of all life. People are destitute. Most die of starvation or go insane. You are a young man, trying to save your siblings from becoming zombies. Updates: Coming soon. food preparation tasks {#Sec17} ----- The majority of the data extraction categories (e.g., preparing food, food processing) as well as the above defined food preparation tasks, were related to foods' preparation. Each job is usually performed in a specific place in the kitchen (place work/s), which is part of kitchen design. Many of the tasks, such as cutting vegetables, are performed at the place where the food is prepared, some events are related to the cooking or production processes (e.g., washing of raw starchy food; mixing of ingredients or dishwashing), but some processes such as cutting of vegetables are performed in the dining room. The time of the day usually sets also a unique place and time for food and drinks' preparation. Information of the events at the place of food preparation were often interwoven in the time of day (e.g., lunch is prepared in the morning, when there is time in the afternoon, when the staff takes breaks), and a spatial information is missing (e.g., the pizza in the dining room is "prepared" in the morning and then is "served" to customers). Little direct information exists on what food products are used (e.g., potatoes, but also pasta or bread) or how much portions were prepared by food preparation staff (e.g., individual bowls for each diner). There are no specific data related to food processing, although something like "cutting" might be related to "food preparation". Mult

This is a fun game (fun is not synonymous of not hard) which contains nice and simple mechanics. It's easy to learn but difficult to master! Technically speaking, it's a remake of the first chapter of the game, "Lights Orb" if you have the classical MOGA controller, you'll just have to use "Touch" in your Mac or PC! There is only one mechanic in this game, but it's huge. You have to collect Light Orb! How to play? Touch (on Mac or PC) your mecanism Get back your power orb from the treasure chests Throw the orb in the square The orb will move and will activate various animations on the environment and you Collect power orbs to get back your time every arrow corresponds to a skill : - Jump : jump the power orb to go into a square - Trapeze : the power orb will rise and fall - Split : split into 2 small orbs, to go through a square - Blast : throw a projectile in the environment - Parachute : move in the air - Swirl : spiral in the air And that's it! Lights Orb is a really small game, with few mechanics, but with a lot of gameplay!
