autoturn90keygenerator The University of Maryland, Baltimore County's (UMBC) College of Agriculture, Natural Resources and Environment and Cooperative Extension Service is dedicated to the principle that all people have inherent worth and dignity regardless of race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, or disability. The Rise and Fall of Arc... and the Future of Programming Languages - ingve ===== yukid I haven't looked into Arc in depth, but it seems very interesting and there's a nice article on its history here  [international.org/publications/standards/Ecma-262.htm) ~~~ alltakendammed Arc ended up being basically equivalent to Scheme, so the article was mostly interesting to a lot of people who already know Scheme. There are also quite some decent papers on Arc's internals:  [Standards...](Standards/dp/0134019557/ref=sr\_1\_4?ie=UTF8&qid=1469874963&sr=8-4)  [Introduced-4th-2...](Introduced-4th-2nd/dp/0134019514/ref=sr\_1\_10?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1469874963&sr=1-10&keywords=arc) ~~~ smarx In case anyone is curious, the most up-to-date version of Arc has a "1.0" release. I'm not sure if the book link still works though (it's well out of date). ----- dugstert Curious if this was written by Marc Feeley (erlang/ocaml).
