Clinicopathologic analysis of differentially expressed microRNA during the natural history of liver fibrosis. MicroRNAs (miRNAs), a new class of small regulatory RNA molecules, are involved in the regulation of the liver fibrotic process. Our aim was to further understand the role of differentially expressed miRNAs in the natural history of liver fibrosis. miRNA profiling was performed to compare the miRNA expression profiles of normal livers and liver fibrosis in patients with liver cirrhosis. Of the 154 miRNAs tested, 37 were significantly differentially expressed (~23%) between normal livers and liver fibrosis and were selected for further study. Of these 37 miRNAs, 13 showed significantly increased expression and 7 decreased expression compared to normal livers. Two-thirds of the differentially expressed miRNAs belonged to the miR-199 family (miR-199a-3p, miR-199a-5p, and miR-199b-3p), whereas others belonged to the miR-377 family (miR-377 and miR-377-3p). We identified a pattern of increased expression of miR-199a-3p and decreased expression of miR-199b-3p or miR-377 in liver fibrosis, especially in the early stages, which was also confirmed by in vitro experiments using human and rat hepatic stellate cells (HSCs). Furthermore, silencing of miR-199a-3p increased the expression of collagen-1 mRNA in HSCs, whereas overexpression of miR-377 downregulated collagen-1 mRNA expression in HSCs. These findings suggest that miR-377 and miR-199a-3p play important regulatory roles during the progression of liver fibrosis. of Indians in the role of lead characters. The audience thinks that he has had a wonderful life and that he might be happy if he could just stop dealing with the parts of life that he cannot control. I agree with Rollo when he says, "Perhaps it is time to make peace with death." Think about that ... the former Governor General of Canada died, not long ago, and think of the parallels to your life. Your life is filled with a large part of the "unpredictable" and the unknowns. That's a lot of the reason you panic when you read the obituary columns in your local newspaper or when something is written on TV in Canada about someone that you care about. So, why not make peace with death? Finally, there is one more topic that Rollo mentioned and it's worth exploring because I think that it relates so much to the concept of peace, when he mentioned the acting class. I discovered that F. Scott Fitzgerald was a very devout Catholic. I was researching him because he wrote many of the greatest short stories of our time. We have to forgive ourselves for our faults, which means that we must also accept our lessons. If you read The Great Gatsby, the author was quite clear that his protagonist, Nick, was a man who self-destructed or repented of his faults. So, what if your life is like that? When my family needs me I sometimes find myself where I cannot be reached. My grandchildren, who love me to the point of frenzy, sometimes cannot rouse me.
