The novel spans a period of 5 years, and moves in an adventurous, bohemian atmosphere. It was first published by Hogarth Press in the autumn of 1925. The novel was published in the United States in 1926 by Boni and Liveright and in Britain in 1926 by Faber and Faber. The drama is set during the First World War, and concerns Major. Jack Darrow, who returns to France after ten years of no contact with the world. He has grown into a violent, furious, anarchic young man; who has not only changed physically, but in his views of the world as well.
