Finally, a cool music festival you can wear to work If you're looking for new music festival options to attend this summer, look no further. Gung-Ho, the music festival that combines sporty tunes with booze, is bringing its three-day main stage extravaganza to the Great Lawn on Chicago's beautiful campus. And, unlike most other music festivals, it will be comprised entirely of classic rock bands, making it the only "progressive" festival of its kind in the country. According to a press release, the festival will feature performances from Living Colour, The Motet, London Grammar, Ween, Guns N' Roses, The Who and many more. If you're looking for a good time, the three-day festival is worth the ticket price (which ranges from $30 to $150). Tickets go on sale in March, and while you'll be able to attend the festival this year, you'll need to wait until 2016 to finally get to the Great Lawn and see some awesome classic rock bands 04aeff104c
