Of course our horoscope isn't a book. But the ancient art of analyzing the stars can be a potent medium of communication between generations. With that in mind, I bring you up to date online reading about the stars for November, as well as, September, July, and June. Specifically, I focus on Leo. (For those who aren't familiar with the zodiac, Leo rules the October-December time frame. The word "zodiac" is derived from the Greek word for "twelve," since Leo is the twelfth of the twelve planets. The same is true for Pisces, Cancer, Scorpio, and Capricorn. So, if you want a complete guide to the star sign system, you can find one at this page: Astrology: What is Your Sign .) Leo is ruled by the Sun, the planet Venus, and a falling asteroid named Sagittarius. The Sun in Leo brings life and light; Venus is the planet of love and pleasure; and Sagittarius gives us the insight and focus to see our way on our adventures. It seems we were born to thrive on the spotlight. It's our natural inclination to seize the limelight, live and love on the brink, and illuminate others around us. It is said we stand out on the stages of life and the life stages of life. We are (legally speaking) negotiable for the majority of our fellow man. According to astrology, the Sun in Leo brings out our feelings of bravado, boldness, and optimism; Venus brings out our emotions of love, kindness, and empathy; and Sagittarius makes us energetic, adventuresome, spontaneous, and clear-sighted.

Our goal is to continue to evolve Photoshop in ways that will bring even more value to our users. We have big plans for Photoshop and the Creative Cloud, and we will update you fairly regularly on the latest ideas as we start to build out our new pipeline and workflow. We are doing this to get to a better understanding of what the creative community wants and needs from Photoshop. We also want to make it much simpler to launch your workflow, as well as curtail a few things designers have been doing. These don't mean that Photoshop will become limited or a shadow of what it was. We know you will have ways to accomplish creative workflows that have been built in the past. You will also be able to continue to use some of the legacy features of Photoshop, including many of the industry standard features that you are most likely familiar with. Unfortunately, we can't upgrade everyone at once, but we are rewriting the core code that powers Photoshop and the rest of the Creative Cloud. Photoshop will be getting an update in 4 months, which means you will either need to get an update to Photoshop before then, or wait for the later update to install on your computer. To minimize disruption, we are going to replace the current Photoshop CC and Elements with a new version shipped in early 2017. The changes we want to make to Photoshop are greater, and the new version will take fewer resources to run. While we replace most of the code in the next version of Photoshop, the same set of features from the current version will continue to be supported and updated through the rest of the year. But we know this means more work for some of you, so we wanted to let you know how we're approaching this.
